The Love Hypothesis - Olive, a Ph.D. student, tries to convince her best friend, Anh, that she has moved on and is dating. She gets caught up in a fake relationship with a professor to prove to her friend that her dating life is going great. Suddenly, this love experiment feels risky, and the future of her research is at stake.

Beach Read- Two writers who were also college rivals are going through a creative rut. They are total opposites, and the only thing they have in common is that they will be spending the summer in neighboring beach houses. They decide to engage in a summer-long challenge to get out of their creative rut.

Book Lovers- Winner of the Goodreads Choice Award for Best Romance (2022), Book Lovers is a heartwarming and hilarious enemies-to-lover romance. The book centers around Nora Stephens, a literary agent who finds herself stuck in a small town with the grumpy editor she hates.

It Ends With Us- Lily had just graduated from college and moved to Boston from a small town in Maine. Her life hasn't been easy, so she's excited to start fresh in a new city. She starts her own business and falls in love with a handsome surgeon named Ryle. Life seems too good to be true for Lily until her first love, Atlas, reappears. Atlas's return threatens her new relationship with Ryle.

Ties That Tether- Azere and her family immigrated to Canada from Nigeria. She promised her dying father she would marry a Nigerian man to preserve her culture. After several failed attempts at meeting a Nigerian man, she ends up having a one-night stand with a tall, handsome white man. Their one-night stand unexpectedly turns into something serious. Azere is now left to choose between her family and the man she loves.

The Paper Palace- Elle, a middle-aged woman happily married with three children, questions her life decisions after a night at her family home, "The Paper Palace." Over the next 24 hours, Elle has to decide if she wants to continue the life she has created with her husband, Peter, or the life she always imagined she would have with her childhood sweetheart if a tragic event didn't change their path.

Things That We Never Got Over- Naomi, a runaway bride, is left stranded in a town by her estranged sister Tina. She is unemployed and homeless and left to take care of her 11-year-old niece, whom she didn't even know existed. Knox, a barber, offers to help Naomi. Knox likes to keep to himself and avoids drama and complicated situations. He wants to help Naomi get out of this mess and get back to his peaceful life. Well, at least that was the plan.

Reminders of Him- Kenna, a troubled young mother, returns home after serving five years in prison to reunite with her daughter. It seems impossible to rebuild the relationships she's had with the people in her daughter's life. No matter how hard she tries to prove herself, it isn't enough. The only person who shows her some compassion is a bar owner named Ledger, whom she later forms a connection with. Will Kenna find a way to escape from her mistakes and build a future with her daughter?

Yours Truly- Briana is an ER doctor whose life is falling apart. She's going through a divorce, her brother is running out of time to find a kidney donor, and she's waiting for a promotion, which most likely will go to Dr. Jacob Maddox. Briana has a terrible first impression of Dr. Maddox but is surprised when she receives a letter from him. Will this letter change how Briana feels about Dr. Maddox?

The Five-Star Weekend- The Five-Star Weekend centers around Hollis Shaw, whose life seemed perfect until a tragic event changed everything. To deal with the grief, she decides to gather four friends from different stages in her life to spend a weekend in Nantucket. It will be an unforgettable weekend that explores love, friendship, self-discovery, growth, and forgiveness.
